The Great Quartzsite, Arizona SNIPE Hunt

Synopsis

“The Great Quartzsite, Arizona SNIPE Hunt” is a mostly-true and 100% historically accurate account of the infamous SNIPE hunt of 2010. One November afternoon, prospector Peyton Gibbs discovers the unmistakable tracks of a SNIPE in the remote desert outside of Quartzsite, Arizona. (A SNIPE is a psychopathic creature of killing who loves to hunt, kill, and barbeque humans. A SNIPE’s business is striking fear into the hearts of the most hardened criminals, curdling milk, terrifying children, and making soda go flat.) The SNIPE Group holds an all-state lottery to have a “Once In A Millennium (If Even Then!) Event” to hunt and kill the SNIPE. And then things begin to go horribly wrong. A stunning glimpse into Quartzsite’s SNIPE history. A Quartzsite Quail “Rollicking cast of characters and all-around SNIPE hunting fun!” A Quartzsite Quail “The Daily Gila Monster

Customer Reviews

This author has one heck of a sense of humor. This is a disjointed story which reflects the hidden truths of a tourist town busting at the seams, if only for a few months of the year. A homeless element is incorporated and stretches the boundaries to include UFO sightings, or at least speculations of them. Hum. Anyway this eclectic story which saunters in many directions other than the intended, was still a joy to read, and certainly kept you guessing as to why the author wrote what he did. I loved that he pegged the town's dirty laundry and portrayed it in the light that he did. Most tourists would miss the contradictions, but Karl Bosselmann included them none the less. This is a rare treat that only this, live by the "seat of his pants" old timer could write. This man has been around the block and nothing has escaped his wizened eyes.

Different but fun!

This is a a quick, funny read. There's a full cast of quirky characters that will keep you guessing. Plus I LOVE surprise endings!
